I am concerned and disgusted that Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election has not been over-ruled by the FCC. This is another clear example of how media consolidation is undermining the public's right to faair and factual journalism. When the bottom line rules--as it clearly does with large media corporations like Sinclair--democracy suffers. Because Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, it is obligated by law to serve the public interest. I strongly urge the FCC to take action and prevent the airing of "Stolen Honor" prior to the presidential election.
